Personal Profile

I am a passionate, quality-oriented, and driven developer seeking a professional role to expand my skills in both frontend and backend development. Programming has always been my personal interest and passion, and my motivation comes from the opportunity of learning new skills. I can quickly and efficiently pick up new knowledge, meanwhile enjoying the learning process.

I always deliver my work on time, and I ensure what I finish will meet the required standards. I am open to challenges and opportunities to step out of my comfort zone to learn and improve my abilities.
